The pure vowels a, o, u, and the diphthong au, may be softened (modified) in their sound.

This modification of the sound is indicated in writing and printing by a placed after the letter, if capital (Nebel); or by two dots (representing a) placed over the modified vowel, if small (binn):—

Me, ä, long = ai in air:—Aehre, ear of corn; ähnlich, similar. Me, ä, short = ay in play:—Hände, hands; hätte, had.

§ 10. DECLENSIONS (Mewanblung).

German Nouns are divided according to the inflections they take in the Genitive Singular into two declensions, viz. :-

:c8, :8, and The Strong (Ancient) or S Declension (Starte Abwanblung),

The Weak (Modern) or N Declension (Edwarde Abranblung), eu, or en.

These are again subdivided according to their Nominative Plural inflections (et, etr.; eu, en) into five classes—i.e. the Strong Declension into three, the Weak into two classes; besides two classes of Nours declined Strong in the Sing, and Weak in the Plur. (§ 14, c) or vice versa (§ 15, c).

§ 16. A. GENERAL REMARKS ON DECLENSIONS.

(1) The Classification into Weak and Strong, depends on Gender and Derivation; thus—

Feminine Nouns are Weak. Only those in suis and sfai, and about thirty-five Monosyllables, are Strong (i.e. take se with vowel-modification) in the Plural; see p. 19.

Neuter Nouns are Strong. (Only about six are Weak (i.e. take = cn or = n) in the Plural, see p. 16.)

Masculine Nouns are Strong or Weak:-

Weak are the names of living beings ending (or originally ending) in -c;

Also names derived from an Adjective or from a foreign language, and ending in a long syllable.

About twenty others are Weak in the Plural, see p. 16. All other Masc. Nouns are Strong.

- (2) the Subdivision of Declensions—according as they take  or *cn;  or cs—depends on Euphony; thus—
 - (a) in the Weak Declension add:—

=u to those ending in & (m. and f.) et, er (f.): bie Bote-u; Blume-u; bie Gabel-u; Schwester-u.

en to those ending in any other syllable than e, el, er:—

m. die Graf-en, Jefuit-en, Deutsch-en, etc.

f. die Freiheit-en, Uhr-en, Landschaft-en, etc.

(b) in the Strong Declension, Genitive Sing., add:—
=$ to Masc. and Neuter Nouns in El, En, Er; chen, Icin:—
bes Ejel=$, Garten=$, Fener=$, Dlabden=$, Banmlein=$, etc.
=c$ to Masc. and Neuter Nouns in $, $, f, f, $, $; :—

bes Sauf-es, Schoff-es, Bufch-es, Holz-es, Trot-es, etc.

either =3 or =c3 (according as euphony, metre, or individual taste may require) to all Masc. and Neuter Nouns ending in any other letter. With Monosyllables, and Nouns ending in b, t (Dentals), =c3 is decidedly to be preferred.

N.B.—The Dat. Sing. may, but need not, take = e if the Genitive is in $= e \oplus = e$ but it never takes se, if the Gen. Sing. is exclusively in se; nor may it take se if the Noun is not qualified by an Article or Pronoun.

(3) the STRONG PLURAL INFLECTION depends on Stem-endings, the Number of Syllables, and, in some cases, on Euphony; thus in the Nom., Acc., and Gen. Plur., add-to all Strong Masc. Nouns not ending in &, &!, en, er, tum; to all Feminine and Neuter Nouns ending in nis and fai; to most Masc. and Neuter Nouns beginning with Ge and ending in a long Syllable; to about thirty Feminine, and forty Neuter Monosyllables.

er { to all Neuter and Masc. Nouns in tum; to most Neuter, and about ten Masc., Monosyllables.

N.B .- No Feminine Noun takes ser in the Plural.

no inflection to Masc. and Neuter Nouns which take so in the Gen. Sing. and no se in the Dat. Sing.; i.e. Masc. and Neuter Nouns in el, en, er; then and lein.

N.B.—The Dative Plural must end in :11; therefore an additional :11 must be added whenever the Nom. Plur. inflection does not already end in :11.

(4) the Modification of the Root-Vowels a, v, n, and of the Diphthong an in the Plural, depends on the Plural Tense inflection—whether Strong or Weak—and partly on Gender; thus the Root-Vowel is

(a) modified -

- (1) in Masc. and Neuter Nouns which take etr in the Plural (2nd Class);
- (2) in most Masc. and Fem. (but not Neuter) Monosyllables which take = c (1st Class);
- (3) in most Masc. (but not Neuter) Nouns which take no inflection in the Plural (3rd Class).

(b) not modified-

- (1) in Nouns which take an or cen in the Plural ; *
- (2) in Neuter Nouns which take *c (1st Class), or no inflection (3rd Class), in the Plural.

^{*}Vowel Modification and Weak Inflections exclude each other.

§ 18 B. Peculiarities of Adjective Declension.

(1) Two or more Adjectives qualifying the same Noun take the same inflections:—

Diefer gute alte weise Mann. Ein guter alter weiser Mann. Ein neues gebundenes Buch. [Ein neu (adv.) gebundenes Buch.]

(2) If preceded by two different Determinative Pronouns, an Adjective is declined according to the rule applying to the latter of the two:—

Nom. Diefer mein guter Freund. Gen. Diefes meines guten Freundes, &c.

- N.B.—Instead of mentioning all the seemingly exceptional cases, we refer the Student to § 71, explaining the theory of Adjective Declension, a clear intelligence of which will help him better over all the difficulties than the host of conflicting Rules and Exceptions.
- * The endings marked * are the only ones which differ from the corresponding cases of the Weak Declension.

§ 19. Observations on the Declension of Adjectives.

- (1) In Adjectives ending in *¢, as böje, wicked, träge, lazy, &c., this ¢ is dropped:—bőjer, bője, bőjes, &c.
- (2) Adjectives ending in ett, el, er, generally drop the e of the suffix (in the Masc. Acc., however, those in el, er, drop the e of the case-inflection:—

ebel, noble; Nom. ed(e)ler Mann, eb(e)le Frau, eb(e)les Blut, &c. Acc. edel(e)n Mann (ebeln better than eblen), &c.

Compare-

heiter, serene; Nom. heit(e)r=er; but Acc. heiter=(e)n. volltommen, perfect; Nom. volltomm(e)n=er; Acc. volltomm(e)n=en.

(3) Comparatives and Superlatives ($ 20) take the case inflections after the Comparative and Superlative endings:—

früh, early; frühser, frühse, frühses; or, der frühse frühser earlier; früherser, früherse, früherses; der früherse. frühseft, earliest; früheftser, früheftse, früheftses; der früheftse,&c.

(4) Soon, high, drops its c whenever it is declined :-Der Baum (bie Bolle) ift hom: but ber hohe Baum, bie hohe Bolle, &c.

(5) With Neuter Nouns the Nom. and Acc. case-inflection \mathfrak{S} is frequently dropped, especially in colloquial and poetical language:—

Rait Baffer, cold water; baar Geth, ready money; ichon Wetter, fine weather, &c.

(6) In accordance with the general principle (i.e. avoiding the repetition of the same endings), the Gen. Sing. of the Masc. and Neuter has now generally sen instead of ses:—

Die Stimme gut=en (instead of gut=e 8) Rathes, the voice of sound advice.

(7) Adjectives used adverbially are not declined:-

Ein ganger Tag, a whole day; but-Gin gang iconer Tag, quite a fine day.

Examples for Declension.

Strong. Weak. Mixed.

Masc. weiß— Wein, der weiß— Wein, ein weiß— Wein, white wine. Fem. weiß— Farbe, die weiß— Farbe, eine weiß— Farbe, white colour. Neuter. weiß — Bierd, das weiß— Verer, ein weiß— Verer, white horse.

Mixed. ein übel.— Geruch, a; eine stärler.— Macht; ein hoh.— Gebirge.

§ 20. Comparison of Adjectives.

As in English, the degrees of comparison are formed by adding to the Positive—

{
 *cr for the Comparative; - *cft (or *ft) for the Superlative:--

Positive. Comparative. Superlative. leichter, easier leichteft.1 easiest. leicht, easy, reizend, charming, reizender, more charming, reizendft, 2most charming. ftärfft,3 strongest. starf, strong, ftärfer, stronger, bitterit, bitterest. bitter, bitter, bitt(e)rer,4 bitterer, träge, lazy, lazier, träger, trägft. laziest.

Obs. 2.—Participles in ct or cnb take ft.

Obs. 3.—Monosyllabic Adjectives (except those in -au, and a few others enumerated in Obs. 8, p. 29) modify their radical vowel:—

Obs. 4.—Adjectives in c, cl, cn, cr, drop the c of the suffix in the Comparative. [Comp. § 19 (2)].

Obs. 5 .- The Superlative has two different forms :-

(a) Attributive:
(declined after § 18, b)— ber (bie, baß) feidteste, the easiest;
,, , stärste, the strongest;

The following examples will illustrate the different uses of these forms:—

§ 23. Observations on the Numerals.

- (a) Cardinal. Only ein is fully declined :-
- (1) Like the Indefinite Article (§ 8, B), if used before a Substantive;
- (2) With the Strong endings throughout, if standing alone (substantively); as,

Nom. Einer Eine Eines (eins), one, some one. Gen. Eines Einer Eines, &c. (see § 18, a).

(3) With the Weak endings, if preceded by a determinative word (see § 18, b):— \ .

Nom. ber (biefer) eine Tag, the (this) one day. Gen. bes (biefes) einen Tages, of the (this) one day.

Ein is also used in the Plural:—bie Einen...bie Anbern, some...the others. (Comp. the French—les uns...les autres.)

In compound numbers ein remains uninflected :- von ein und breißig Tagen.

Notice—noch ein, one more, another :— Roch ein Glas Bein, another glass of wine. Cf. French: Encore un verre.

Swei and brei, if not preceded by a determinative word, may be declined:—

Gen. In Gegenwart zweier Zeugen. In presence of two witnesses. Dat. I said it to three persons.

[This is to indicate the case, which otherwise would be doubtful.] Also the Dative of the other numerals, used substantively, occurs:—

Muj allen Bieren, on all fours.

(b) Ordinal Numbers are declined like Adjectives (§ 18); they are used, as in English, with names of sovereigns, &c., and in dates:—

Ludwig der vierzehnte, Gon. Ludwigs des vierzehnten, &c. Nom. der erste Februar, the first of February. Acc. den ersten Februar, the first of February. Dat. am ersten Februar, on the first of February.

Notice-Der wievielste ift heute? what day of the month is it?

(c) Fractional. The peculiar form brittehalb, &c., implies that the second is complete, but the third only half $= 2\frac{1}{2}$. (Comp. Lat. sestertius, from semis tertius.)

On this principle may be explained the German way of reckoning the hours of the day:—

two o'clock, swei Uhr a quarter-past two, ein Biertel auf brei half-past two, half brei, a quarter to three, brei Biertel auf brei past two begins, a quarter to three, brei Biertel auf brei

This implies that as soon as the second hour has struck, the third hour begins, and therefore—

‡ past two = ‡ towards three o'clock.

‡ past two = ‡ , , , etc.

Acc. mid, myself, uns, ourselves. Dat. mir, to myself, uns, to ourselves. Acc. did, thyself. ench (Sich), yourselves. Dat. bir, to thyself, end (Sid), to yourselves.

Acc. fid, himself, herself, itself, one's self; themselves. Dat. fid, to himself, to herself, to itself, to one's self; to themselves.

§ 25. Observations on the Personal Pronouns.

1. The Gen. mein, bein, fein (still used in poetry and idioms) is the primitive form of meiner, deiner, seiner:— Bergiß mein nicht. Forget me not.

2. Notice the following compounds of the Genitive with the Prepos. wegen, halben, willen, for the sake of :-

meinet-wegen, beinet-wegen, feinet-wegen (=halben, =willen). For my sake, thy sake, his sake; or, on my behalf, &c. unfert=wegen, euert=wegen, ihret=wegen (=halben, =willen). For our sake, your sake, their sake; or, on our behalf, &c.

- 3. Dit is not only used in poetry and divine worship, as in English, but also between intimate friends, near relations, and children, and by grownup persons to children.
- 4. Sie, Ihrer, Ihnen, 3rd p. plur., must be used instead of ihr, euch, euer, - which are not considered polite in social intercourse - between equals, and even towards persons of inferior rank, unless the speaker purposely wishes to disregard the conventional forms of politeness.
- 5. It must be well understood that the neuter it not only corresponds to es, but also to er or fie, whenever—as often is the case—the noun it refers to, though neuter in English, happens to be masc, or fem. in German:

Wo ift mein Stod?-Er ift bier. Where is my stick?—It is here. Do ift Ihre Feber ?- Gie ift verloren. Where is your pen ?—It is lost.

Notice also the neutral sing. use of es:-

Was für Blumen (f.) find das (§ 29) ?—What sort of flowers are these ? Es find Lilien. (Ce sont des lis). They are lilies.

- 6. If referring to such words as bas Beib, the woman, bas Fraulein, the young lady, bas Mäbden, the girl, &c., which, though denoting females, happen to be Neuter in Grammar, the Pronoun is generally made to agree with the natural gender :- Rennen Sie Fraulein N. ?- Ja, fie ift febr bescheiben.
- 7. (a) In using the Neuter Pron. in the Genitive or Dative Case, we must distinguish whether it refers to Persons or Things, as, in the latter case, the corresponding cases of the Demonstrative Pron.-beffen, bem (§ 28)must be used:-

(Persons) Bir erinnern uns feiner. We remember him. (Things) Bir erinnern uns beffen. We remember it.

(b) If governed by a preposition, a Neuter Pronoun referring to a thing must be replaced by bar -ba before consonants-(cognate to the English there) prefixed to the governing preposition:-

Dat. bavon, of it (lit. thereof), instead of von ihm, which can only meanof him.

Acc. bafür, for it (lit. therefore), instead of für ihn, which can only meanfor him.

Ich weiß nichts bavon (French en). Bift bu bamit gufrieden ? Saben Gie nichts bagegen?

I know nothing of it. Are you satisfied with it? Have you no objection to (against) it?

(8) Notice the following peculiar uses of es:-

3ch bin es (bin's), Du bift es, 2c. Ist er es? Sind Sie es, 2c. Ich hoffe es (French—Je l'espère). Er ift gludlich, und verdient es gu fein.

It is I, it is thou, &c. Is it he? is it you? &c. I hope so.

He is happy, and deserves to be so.

B. § 26. POSSESSIVE ADJECTIVES.

These are derived (as in Greek, Latin, English, &c.) from the Genitive of the Personal Pronouns:—

		Si	ıgular.			Plural.
m. f. n.	my, mein, meine, mein,	thy, bein, beine, bein,	his, its, fein, feine, fein,	her; ihr; ihre; ihr;	our, unser, unsere, unser,	your, ener, Ihr, en(e)re, Ihre, ener, Ihr,	their. ihr. ihre. ihr.

They are declined throughout like the Indef. Article (§ 8, b):—

		Singular.			Plural.
	m.	f.	n.		m.f. de n.
	mein,	meine,	mein,	my	meine.
	meinen,	meine,	mein,	$my \dots$	meine.
	meines,	meiner,	meines,	of my	meiner.
D.	meinem,	meiner,	meinem,	to my	meinen.

Obs.-Unser and ener may be contracted like other Adjectives in ser (§ 19) :-Gen. unsee or unsers; eu(c)res, 2c.

§ 27. POSSESSIVE PRONOUNS.

These are formed from the Possessive Adjectives (§ 26 A.), and declined like other Adjectives—(a) with the Definite Article (Weak), or (b) without the Article (Strong).

(a) WITH THE ARTICLE (declined according to § 18, b) :-

(b) WITHOUT THE ARTICLE (declined according to § 18, a):-

		Singular.			Plural.
	m.	f.	n.		m. f. & n.
N.	meiner,	meine,	meines,	mine;	meine.
A.	meinen,	meine,	meines,	mine;	meine.
G.	meines,	meiner,	meines,	of mine;	meiner.
D.	meinem,	meiner,	meinem,	to mine;	meinen.

In addressing a person either familiarly or politely, bear in mind that the Possess. Adj. or Pron. must correspond with the Personal Pron. (§ 24)— Saft bu beinen Sut?

habt ihr euren hut? Have you your hat?

§ 28. Observations on Possessive Adjectives and Pronouns.

1. The Singular and the Plural of a Possessive Pron. (masc. or fem., if referring to a person; neuter, if referring to a thing), may be used as Nouns:—

bas Meinige, bas Meine, my own (property); bie Meinigen, bie Meinen, my own (family relations, &c.).

2. As in French, the Reflective Personal Pronoun (in the Dative) with the Definite Article, or the Definite Article alone, often stands where in English the Possessive Adjective is strictly required:—

Er hat fich ben Arm gebrochen. He has broken his arm.

(Il s'est cassé le bras.)

Gib mir die Sand (Donne-moi la main). Give me your hand.

Notice also-

Bo ift ber Bater? (instead of bein Bater) if no ambiguity can arise.

3. According to § 17, an Adjective is indeclinable, when used as a predicate; this holds good with Possessive Pronouns:—

Diese Mumen sind mein. These flowers are mine. Ces fleurs sont à moi.

4. Distinguish carefully Possessive Adjectives from Possessive Pronouns:—

Singular.

Adjective. Pronoun.

m. Mein Stod und der deinige (der deine). My stick and thine.

Mon baton et le tien.

f. Meine Sand und die deinige (die deine). My hand and thine.

Ma main et la tienne.

n. Mein Pferb und das deinige (das beine). My horse and thine.

m. Mon cheval et le tien.

Plural.

m.f.n. Meine Stöcke (Hände, Pferde) und die deinigen (die deinen).
m. Mes batons (chevaux) et les tiens. f. Mes mains et les tiennes.

5. Notice also that a Poss. Adj. or Pron. of the 3rd pers. agrees-

(a) in English, in Gender and Number with the Possessor only;

(b) in French, with the thing possessed only;
(c) in German, with both the Possessor and the thing possessed. Compare—

John (m.) and his sister (f.).

Jane (f.) and her brother (m.).

Jeanne et son frère.

Johann und fein-e. Chwester. Johanna und ihr Bruder.

i.e. icin = (m.), to agree with the Possessor (Bruber, m.) and the fem. inflection = c, to agree with the Possessed (Schwester, f.).

C. § 29. DEMONSTRATIVE PRONOUNS.

These may all be used adjectivally or substantivally:—

- (1) der, die, das, this, that, the one, he (she, it).

Plural.

1. (b) Der, die, das, used Substantivally:

Dieses (bies, bas) sind meine Schwestern. These are my sisters. It bies (bas) Ihr Freund or Ihre Freundin? Is this your friend?

Cf. the French—Ce sont mes sœurs,—Est-ce là votre ami?

(4) Gener, jene, jenes (cognate with Engl. yon, yonder), that, that one, is declined throughout like biefer, and, like the latter, may be used adjectivally or substantivally:—

- (5) Derfelbe, diefelbe, dasfelbe (or derfelbige, &c., obsol.), the same, is conjugated throughout like berjenige (see p. 37), and may be used either (a) adjectivally, or (b) substantivally:

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

- § 34. The Classification of Verbs according to—
- (a) Meaning-into Transitive and Intransitive.
- (b) Voice-into Active and Passive.
- (c) Mood—into Indicative, Subjunctive, and Imperative (Verbal Nouns and Adjectives—Infinitive and Participles).
 - (d) Tense -into Present, Past, and Future, and-
- (e) Conjugation—into Weak, Strong, and Anomalous, is, on the whole, the same as in English.

The close kinship between German and English nowhere appears more strikingly than in the treatment of their Verbs; the natural classification into weak and strong being substantially the same in the two languages:—

Weak.

Present. id lieb=e, I lov-e.	Preterite. id) lieb=t-e, I lov-ed.	Part. Perf. gesliels et, lov-ed.
id) teil=e,	idy teil=t=e,	ge=teil=t,
I deal.	I deal-t.	deal-t.
	Strong.
Present. ich beginnee, I begin.	Preterite, id, begann, 1 began.	Part. Ferf. begonn=cu,*
ich fecht=e,	ich focht,	ge=focht=en,
1 fight.	I fought.	fought.
idy breds=e,	id brach,	ge=brod)=en,
I break.	I broke.	brok-en.

^{* &}quot;The Perf. Part. of all Verbs of the Strong conj. in English was originally formed by the (adjective) suffix -en and the prefixed particle ge-. The suffix -en has now disappeared from many verbs, and the prefix ge- from all."—Mason's English Grammar, § 221.

"Weak Verbs form their past tense by means of the suffix -d or -t. In Old English we find that this ending had a longer form de; as, Ic ner-e-de, I saved. This -de represents a mere primitive dede = did, which is the past tense (formed by reduplication) of the Verb do :-

I lov-ed, I love-did, thou love-dest = thou love-didst, &c."

(Morris, Historical English Grammar.)

And thus in German :- "The formation of the Perfect divides all Verbs into two Classes, which radically differ in their stemformation :-

- (a) Primitive Verbs form their perfect by reduplication, or, if the reduplication is dropped, by the lengthening (Steigerung) of the root-vowel;
- (b) Derived Verbs form their perfect by composition; for the Perfect tense-endings of Derived Verbs are nothing else than remnants of the Perfect of the Verb tu-ou (root ta), to do, affixed to the Verbal Stem."-SCHLEICHER, Deutsche Sprache,

Compare also the Latin: moveo, movi contracted from the original reduplicated form mö-mövi; and amo, amu-vi, this suffix vi being the same as the Perfect fui of the Auxiliary Verb, and doing the same office as the English do or the Old German tuon.

Adv.—Der Abler fliegt höher als bie Schwalbe.

APPENDIX.

§ 69. Vowel modification is a feature of frequent occurrence in the English language, and, as it may be traced to the same origin in the two languages, an illustration of its working in English will better explain the principle than any disquisition, however lengthy, could do:—

"The Plurals formed by change of the Vowel of the Noun, such as 'foot,' 'feet,' can be partly explained by Anglo-Saxon, and still more by the kindred languages of the Continent, especially the Old Saxon. In Anglo-Saxon the plural is fêt where the original vowel (fôt) has been changed as in English. But in Old Saxon the plural is fôti, and in Gothic words of the same form we find traces of a fuller suffix -is. Now this final syllable explains the change of the vowel in the original syllable. It is a well-known phenomenon in language (of which we shall see more hereafter) that one sound affects another in pronunciation; that, for example, if two consonants meet, which differ in some principle of their formation, and therefore are not easily pronounced together, one generally modifies the other. A consonant can affect a vowel, and one vowel can affect another, though not generally in the same syllable; sometimes a vowel changes that of the following syllable, as when Latin facilis becomes difficilis; more commonly the vowel of the preceding syllable is brought nearer to-not made identical with-that which follows. These Plurals are examples of such a change. Thus in 'fôti' we have two vowels o and i (ee—sound); for o the back of the tongue is raised much higher than for i; e (sounded as in French fête) comes nearer to i in this respect; also the mouth is 'rounded' for o, that is, the lips form a circular hole, the extremities being brought nearer; but the lips are not moved in sounding either e or i; therefore a speaker, mindful of the coming i, and wishing half-unconsciously to spare his labour, so modified the preceding syllable that he sounded ê instead of ô, and said 'fêti.' Just so he said 'menni' instead of 'manni' for the plural of 'man.' Then in process of time the termination i, like so many others, was dropped, and 'feet,' 'men,' &c., alone were left. Yet, none the less, the lost vowel had been the cause of the change. This we should certainly never have known except by tracing the history of the vowel, and by comparison with kindred languages, where the same change takes place." (Peile, Primer of Philology.)

§ 71. General Remarks on the Adjective Declension.

As regards the agreement of the Attributive Adjective in Gender and Number with the Noun it qualifies, German holds a middle position between French, where the Adjective agrees both as an Attribute and as a Predicate, and English where it never agrees; it differs from both in so far as it agrees in case with the Noun qualified by means of case-endings of its own.

The German Declension of the Attributive Adjective differs altogether from the Latin: for whilst in Latin the Declension of the Adjective (1st, 2nd, or 3rd Declension) depends on its stem-suffixes, in German the Declension of an Adjective, be it Masc., Fem., or Neuter, depends not only on the Gender and Number of the Noun qualified, but also on the Determinative word (Article or Pronoun) preceding it:—

jung-es Rind.

- (a) The Adjective takes the Weak inflections, if preceded by an Article or Pronoun with Strong inflections;
- (b) It takes the Strong inflections itself, if preceded by no Article or Pronoun or by one deficient in inflections (i.e. Weak): thus—

Article or Pron. Strong:—	Adjective Weak :—	Article or Pron. Weak (or no Art. or Pron.):—	Adjective Strong:—
(a) Dieser	jung=e Mann.	(b) (Gin)	jung-er Mann.
Diese	jung=e Frau.	(Gine)	jung-e Frau.

jung-e Rind.

Now the general law underlying this system of alternation of Strong and Weak Inflections is simply a law of euphony—in other words, the repetition of the same Strong endings in close succession is avoided on account of the grating sound it would produce.

(Gin)

This law is corroborated by the very exceptions to the Rules of Declension: for in the Gen. Sing., Masc. and Neuter, of the Strong Adject. Decl., *cn is generally substituted for *cs, because the following Noun itself ends in seg.

Dief-cs

The fact that, in many cases, as for instance in the Acc. ben jungen Anaben, this repetition of *CN is not resented, does not militate against this theory, for the recurrence of *CN does not grate on the ear as does the repeated *CO.

The so-called Mixed Adjective Declension is entirely founded on, and strikingly illustrates, this euphonic law:—

```
Article Weak—Adjective Strong:— | Article Strong—Adjective Weak:--
Nom, ein gut-er Mann
Nom, ein gut-eb Kind | Gen, ein-eb gut-en Kindes,
```

Compare also those Indefinite Pronouns which admit of being used both with or without Case-Inflections:—

Mancher brave Mann; or Manch braver Mann! Belches großartige Schauspiel! or Welch großartiges Schauspiel!

EXERCISES.

RECAPITULATION OF THE PRINCIPAL RULES ON THE ORDER OF WORDS.

N.B.—Only the most essential Rules are given. Special Cases and Exceptions will be noticed in due course.

A. SIMPLE SENTENCES.

(1) The Participle Perfect and the Infinitive are, as a rule, placed last:—

Part. Perf.
Ich have die gehabt.
I have time had.
Er ist hier gewesen.
He is here been.
Du hast ihn gesobt.
You have him praised.

Infinitive.
Infinitive.
I shall time have.
Er wird hier fein.
He will here be.
Du wirst ihn toben.
You will him praise.

In the Compound Infinitive, i.e. Infinitive Perfect, composed of Infinit, Pres. and Part. Perf., the latter is placed last:—

Er würde es gethan haben. He would it done have. Sie würde mit uns gegangen fein. She would with us gone be.

(2) a. If a Verb has two Noun-objects, or if one Object is a Noun, and the other a Pronoun the Dative of the Person is generally placed before the Accusative of the Thing:—

Er hat dem Bettler einen Thaler gegeben. He has to the beggar a dollar given. Sie wird und ihre Bücher gerne leihen. She will to us her books willingly lend.

b. If both Objects of a Verb are Personal Pronouns, the Direct Obj. (Acc.) is generally placed before the Indirect (Dat. or Gen.):—

I shall it to him to-morrow say.

- Obs. With mir and bir the acc., es is often put last : Sage mir's.
- (3) Adverbs or $Adverbial\ Phrases$ of time are placed before other complements:—

Er wird heute nicht in die Schule geben. He will to-day not to school go.

(4) A Complement (be it an Adverb, an Adverbial Phrase or Clause, or an Object) placed at the head of a sentence, attracts the Verb*:—

Normal: - Ich fah gestern beinen Bruter im Theater. I saw yesterday thy brother in the theatre.

Inverted :- Geftern fah ich beinen Bruber im Theater.
Deinen Bruber fah ich gestern im Theater.
Im Theater fah ich gestern beinen Bruber.

* It must be well understood that in Compound Tenses it is to the Auxiliary Verb (and not the Part. Perf. or Infinitive) that the above rules apply:—

Geftern habe ich beinen Bruber im Theater gefehen.

 $\mathit{Ohs}.$ 1. Adverbs must not be placed between the Subject and the Verb :—

I never said that. Das hab' ich nicht gesagt.

Obs. 2. (a) Night is best placed-last in Simple Tenses of Simple (or inseparable compound) Verbs;

in Compound Tenses, before the Infinitive or Part. Perf. :-

Seute fommt ber Lehrer nicht. To-day the master is not coming.

Geftern ift ber Lehrer nicht getommen.

Morgen wird ber Lebrer nicht tommen.

(b) With Separable Compound Verbs, when they throw their prefix to the end, with will generally stand before the latter:—

Mache das Fenster nicht auf (or mache nicht das Fenster auf). Do not open the window.

(c) If one particular word in a sentence is emphatically negatived, with is best placed before that word:—

Night hente found ber Lehrer, sondern morgen. The master will come, not indeed to-day, but to-morrow.

Richt der Lehrer wird tommen, sondern ... Not the master will come, but ...

B. COMPLEX SENTENCES.

- (1) In all Dependent (Subordinate) Clauses, the Verb (if in a compound tense, the Auxiliary Verb) stands last:—
 - (a) ADJECTIVAL (relative) dependent Clauses:— (introduced by a Relative or Adverbial Pronoun).

Das ift ein Schiller, der seine Pflicht thut; den ich besohnt habe; dessen Fortschritte Ihnen zur Ehre gereichen werden. That is a pupil, who does his duty;
whom I have rewarded;
whose progress will redound to your credit.

Ohs. If the dependent clause is intercalated in the principal sentence, the order remains the same:—

Der Schüler, ber feine Pflicht thut, wird belohnt werden.

(b) SUBSTANTIVAL dependent Clauses :-

(introduced by the Subordinate Conjunctions baff, sb, or by the Substantival Relatives wer, was)-

Es frent mich, daß du hente kommst. I am glad that yon come to-day. Man weiß nicht, ob er kommen wird. One does not know whether he will come. Ich wuste wol wer es gethan hatte. I knew well who had done it. Thue was Recht ist. Do what is right.

(c) ADVERBIAL dependent Clauses :-

(introduced by Subordinate Conjunctions of time, place, manner, cause, purpose, condition, concession, &c., see § 68 B.).

Der Hahn kräht, ehe die Sonne am Himmel steht.
The coek crows before the sun stands in the sky.
Wir arbeiteten, während er im Schatten andruhte.
We were working whilst he was resting in the shade.
Es war im Jahr 1812, als Napoleon den Krieg erklärte.
It was in the year 1812, when Napoleon declared war.
Es ist schon lange her steit er gesommen ist.
It is a long time stace he has come.
Wissen Sie wann der Jug antenmen wird?
Do you know when the train will arrive?
Is wirde es thum wend es möglich wäre.
I should do it si it were possible.
Er verreiste still, damit er den Zug nicht versehlte.
He started early in order that he might not miss the train.

I could not accompany him, as I was too tired.

I could not accompany him, as I was too tired.

Es ist mir unbegreistich wie es geschehen ist.

It is a riddle to me how it has happened.

Roblenz liegt wo die Mosel in den Abein stiest.

Coblentz is situated where the Moselle shows into the Rhine.

Er will Bein trinsen, obschon er das Fieder hat.

He wants to drink wine though he has a sever.

(2) If a dependent Clause stands before a Principal sentence, the Verb of the latter is attracted, as it is by a preceding complement (see A. 4): compare—

Adv. phrase :- Bor Sonnenaufgang, Adv. clause :- Che die Soune aufging, } verließen wir das Lager.

Before sunrise (= before the sun rose), we left the camp.

It follows that—the Verb of the preceding dependent clause standing last, and the Verb of the following principal sentence standing first—the two Verbs will come together.

Dependent Clause.

Conjunct:, Subj., Verb; Verb, Subject, &c.

Da er nicht arbeitet, foll er auch nicht effen.

As he not works, shall he also not eat.

Obs. As a rule, a principal sentence preceded by one or more dependent clauses, will be linked to the latter by the adverbial conjunction \mathfrak{fo} , standing as a kind of correlative to the conjunction which introduces the dependent clause:—

Da du trant bift, fo mußt du zu Saufe bleiben.

Wenn ber Sturm beftig wird, fo wird er Orfan genannt. Dbichon er lahm ift, fo fann er boch ichnell laufen.

(3) A conditional or concessive dependent clause is often rendered by inversion of the Subject and Verb (in English with Auxiliary Verbs only):—

Henn ich das gewißt, soware ich nicht gekommen. Wenn ich das gewißt hätte,

Had I (for-If I had) known that, I should not have come.

But we cannot say with other than Auxiliary Verbs, as in German:-

Sprad' er die Wahrheit, so würde ich ihm glauben. If he spoke the truth, I should believe him.

N.B.—Words within parenthesis () are to be translated; words within brackets [] are not to be translated.

ferent to me. Whatever he may do.

Exercise VI. The Subjunctive Mood in Dependent Clauses.

The Subjunctive is used in Dependent Clauses (oratio obliqua) to express—

- (a) an Indirect Statement (enunciation), after Verbs of saying, declaring, believing, and the like:—
- Man sagt (behauptet, glaubt), daß People say (assert, believe) er schuldig sei. (that) he is guilty.
- (b) an Indirect Question (interrogation) after Verbs of asking doubting, &c.—
- Er fragt mich, $\begin{cases} \text{ ob es wahr fci.} \\ \text{wer ich fei.} \end{cases}$ He asks me $\begin{cases} \text{whether it } is \text{ true.} \\ \text{who I } am. \end{cases}$
- (c) an Indirect Command (petition), after Verbs of commanding, entreating, &c.:—

Er will daß ich es thue. { He wishes that I should do it. He wants me to do it.

Obs. 1. An Indirect Statement may also be expressed by a Co-ordinate Clause (the Verb of which must be in the Subjunctive):—

Man fagt er sci trant.
(Instead of daß er trant sci).

They say (that) he is ill.
He is said to be ill.

Obs. 2. Contrary to the usual sequence of tenses, an Indirect Statement (Question, or Command) depending on a Verb in a Past tense, may, in German, stand in the Present tense, i.e. the tense that would be used if the statement were direct; compare—

Direct.

Indirect.

Er fagte: Ich bin verantwortlich. Er fagt er fei (ho is) verantwortlich. Er fagte :- Ich bin verantwortlich. Er fagte er fei (ho was) verantwortlich.

- (11) Er gestand { daß er es gethan have (hätte). He admitted { that he had done it. having done it.

- B. 1. My nephew writes to me that he is ill. 2. They assured me that it was true. 3. They asked me who I was. 4. She says her brother has arrived. 5. Our master wishes me to answer at once. 6. Ein Theil von Schlesien ist dadurch verloren gegangen und meine Widerwärtigkeiten würden aufs Höchste gestiegen sein, setzte ich nicht ein unbegrenztes Vertrauen in enern Mut, enre Standhaftigkeit und enre Baterlandsliebe, die ihr bei so vielen Gelegenheiten mir bewiesen habt."

The Subjunctive Mood may * be used in-Consecutive, Comparative, and Final Clauses, introduced by the Sub-ordinate Conjunctions for daß, so that; thue daß, without (that); als daß, than that; the, bevor, before, ere; daß (auf daß) damit, in order that, to denote an expected (or unexpected) result, an uncertain contingency, or a purpose not accomplished:—*

Sprich fo daß man bich ver-

Das Schiff ging unter, ohne daß man ihm hilfe gebracht hatte.

Es war schlimmer als ich ge= glaubt hatte.

Ehre Bater und Mutter, auf daß (bamit) du lange lebest auf Erben.

Biele gut, bafg bu ben Apfel treffest.

Speak so that one may understand you.

The ship sank without any one having assisted it.

The case was worse than I should have supposed.

Honour thy father and thy mother, that thou mayest live long on earth.

Aim well, so that you may hit the apple.

Thus also in Adjectival Clauses introduced by a Relative Pronoun, if the result is considered uncertain or impossible—

In vain do I look for some one mir helje * unould help me.

* The alternative between the use of the Subjunctive cr Indicative depends entirely on the sense expressed or implied in the principal clause, i.e. the probability or uncertainty of the expected result or contingency; compare—

He is too proud to keep company with us.

Exercise VIII. The Subjunctive Mood (continued).

1. The Subjunctive Preterite or Pluperfect is used in Conditional Clauses introduced by wenn, if, wenn and, even though, als ob, as if, to denote what would be or happen (or, would have been or happened), if the hypothesis (supposition) expressed in the principal sentence were real: compare—

Dependent Clause;

Principal Sentence.

(a) Indicative;

expressing possible contingency:

Wenn ich zu Hause bin, When (if) I am at home,

(b) Subjunctive,
expressing an unreal or rejected contingency:—

Wenn ich zu Gause wäre, or, Wäre ich zu Gause,* If I were at home, or, Were I at home, (Si j'étais chez moi, INDICATIVE, stating a probable or possible result:

so bin ich gsücklich.

I am happy.

Subjunctive or Conditional, denoting an imaginary conclusion:—

fo ware ich glücklich; or—fo warde ich glücklich sein.
I should be happy.
je serais heureux).

Thus also with the Verb in the Pluperfect :-

Wenn ich da gewesen wäre, } { so wäre ich froh gewesen; or, or, Bäre ich da gewesen,*

As in English, the Principal Sentence may stand first :-

Principal Sentence;

3ch wäre froh, or- } 3ch würde froh fein, §

Ich ginge, or— } Ich würde gehen, } I should go,

Ich wäre gegangen, or— } I should have gone,

Dependent Clause.

wenn ich zu Sause ware.

wenn ich Zeit hätte. if I had time.

wenn ich Zeit gehabt hatte. if I had had time.

^{*} See introductory remarks on Order of words, B (c) 3, p. 101.

- 2. Here may be classed the use of the Subjunctive in Concessive Clauses introduced—
- (a) by the Conjunctions wenn and, wenn gleid, vb, although, even though (if)—but generally only if the Verb is in the Pret. or Plupf.)— wer auch, welcher auch, whoever, whosoever, was auch, whatever; wie auch, however:—

Wererauch sei, was er auch thue, ich werde ihn nicht fürchten.

Whoever he be, whatever he may do, I shall not fear him.

Obs. The hypothesis on which the Subjunctive depends may be contained in an adverbial phrase, or simply implied:—

Ich hatte es nicht fo gemacht; (i.e. wenn ich es zu machen hätte).

I should not have done it thus; (i.e. if I had to do it).

THE PARTICIPLES AND THE GERUND.

INTRODUCTORY.

N.B.—In order to understand fully the relationship between the English and German Participial constructions, the student will do well, first of all, to bear in mind that the modern English Verbal form in -ing does duty for—

(1) the old Imperfect Participle in -end(e), [subsequently -inde, -inge, -ing: cf. Lat. -ent; Greek ovt], which is a verbal adjective, answering to the Germ. Pres. Part..: as,

Mony a wepkinde eye (Rob. of Glouc.). Mand weinendes Ange. (2) the old Infinitive in -an, which answers to the German Infinitive: O.E. writ-an, subsequently writ-en, writ-in, writ-ing.

(3) an old abstract Noun ending in the suffix -ung, which answers to the modern Germ. abstract Nouns in sung, as,

For earnunge ecan lifes. lit. Bur Erwerbung bes ewigen Lebens. In accordance with the above fundamental distinctions, the English Verbal forms in -ing must be rendered in German either by a Participle proper, an Infinitive (or Supine), or by an Abstract Noun, see p. 125 :-

Beware of waking the sleeping

Yawning is catching.

Bute bich ben ichlafenden Löwen an weden.

Das Gahnen ift anftedenb.

EXERCISE XII. A. The Present Participle.

In German the Pres. Part. (Verbal adjective in send) is used—

(a) as an Adjective used attributively: as,

The travelling merchant. Der reifende Raufmann.

A travelling merchant. Ein reifender Raufmann.

As with Adjectives, the Complement of a Past Part. is placed before that Participle: as, in Rußland reisender A Raufmann.

merchant travelling Russia.

Obs. 1. A Participle Pres. may be used predicatively only in so far as it has assumed the character of an adjective proper. Thus we may say-Die Ausficht ift reizend. The view is charming.

Geine Beredtjamteit ift hinreifend. His eloquence is overpowering.

But we cannot say-Das Rind ift fpielend. The child is playing.

Obs. 2. The Past Part. of the Aux. Verbs feit and haben is hardly ever used, and had better be avoided altogether.

(b) as a Noun denoting (1) a person (m. or f.), or (2) the characteristic feature of a thing (neut.):-

(1) Der Reisende, the traveller. Ein Reisender, a traveller. declined throughout like an Adjective; see (a) above, and p. 25.

(2) Das lleberraschende (What is surprising in this is that ... babei ift, baß, &c. \ or, The surprising part of this affair ... (c) as an Adverb (generally of manner, sometimes of cause): as,

Das Kind fam weinend nach Saufe. The child came home or, Weinend fam bas Kind nach Saufe.

Einen hinterhalt befürchtend,* Fearing an ambush, the enemies were on their guard.

* If the Verb is transitive, the Perf. Participle must stand after its Object.

(d) as a Future Passive (Gerundive) used as an attribute preceded by 31: as,

Das zu lesende Buch. Ein zu lesendes Buch. (cf. Lat. liber legendus.) The book to be read;
A book to be read;
or, a book worth reading.

A. 1. Bei einbrechender Nacht machten wir uns auf den Weg. 2. Wir Schwestern saßen, die Wolle spinnend, in den langen Nächten. 3. Der Schildwach stehende Soldat ging schweigend auf und ab. 4. Haben Sie je das Alpenglühen gesehen?—Ja, freilich; die hinter den Alpen aufgehende Sonne ist ein nie zu vergessendes (= unvergesiches) Schauspiel. 5. B. Summary of the Constructions which are Participial (or Gerundial) in English but not in German.

The English Verbal form in -ing must be rendered in German-

(a) by the finite form of the corresponding Verb, if it denotes a continuous (or imperfect) Present, Past, or Future: as,

He is (was) travelling. He has (had) been travelling. He will (would) be travelling.

* Or, Er ist (war) auf der Reise. The boy stood gaping.

Er reift (reifte).* Er hat (hatte) gereift. Er wird (würde) reifen.

Er ift (war) auf ber Reise gewesen, &c. Der Anabe ftand und gaffte.

(b) by the Passive Voice, if the meaning is clearly passive: as, Das Schiff wird gebaut; or, ist im Ban begriffen. The ship is building: (i.e. is being built)

(c) if it stands as a Subject, an Object, or a Complement in the Genitive case-either (1) by the Pure Infinitive (without 311), as.

N. Swimming strengthens the limbs.

A. I hate this everlasting wrangling.

G. I am tired of waiting. There is no denying. I hear a bird singing (i.e. sing).

Das Schwimmen stärkt Glieber.

Ich haffe bies ewige Zauten.

3ch bin des Wartens mübe. Es läßt fich nicht lengnen. 3ch hore einen Bogel fingen.

or (2) by a Verbal Noun in sung, see p. 123: as,

For the strengthening of faith. To have good nursing.

Bur Stärfung bes Glaubens. Gute Bartung baben.

Obs. 1. It should be borne in mind that not nearly all Verbs have this form in = uug, and that consequently the student must make sure of its existence by reference to the Dictionary.

Obs. 2. Sometimes the simple verb-stem is an adequate equivalent of the English form in -ing-

The art of building. The building of ships. Die Bautunft. Der Schiffban.

Fox-hunting. Die Fuchsjagd.

Das Denkvermögen und die Urtheils= The powers of thinking and judging. fraft.

(d) by the Infinitive with an, if used-

(1) as the Complement of the Prepositions-without, ohne; instead of, auftatt (see Ex. XI.), if the Subject of both Verbs is the same :---

He did it without asking us.

Er that es ohne und zu fragen.

(2) as a Gerund; i.e. as the Complement of a Verb, a Noun or an Adjective : as,

The pleasure of seeing you. He intends staying here. I am tired of waiting for him. Das Bergnügen Gie gu feben. Er beabsichtigt bier an bleiben. 3ch bin mube auf ibn an warten.

Caution: (1) No German Preposition takes the Verbal form in send. (2) Only ohne, anitatt, zu (um zu), and Prepositions compounded with ba, as baran, take the Infinitive.

If the first Verb takes any other preposition, as, for instance:

We insist upon Wir bestehen auf ;

then this Preposition is affixed to the pronominal adverb ba(r) (see § 30), as barauf, damit, dadurch, &c., followed-

(1) by the dependent Verb in the Infinitive, if it has the same subject: as,

We insist upon doing it our- Bir bestehen barauf es felbst gu selves, lit. We insist thereon it ourselves to do.

or (2) by a substantive clause introduced by bag, if the dependent Verb has a different Subject :-

We insist upon your doing it. Wir befteben barauf, bag bu es yourself. felbft thucit.

- * This compound of pron. adv. + prep. (here baraus) may be considered as doing duty as a finger-post pointing emphatically to the dependent clause, the latter standing as it were in apposition to the former, i.e. We insist upon this point: that you do it yourself.
- (e) by an Adverbial Clause, introduced by a subordinate conjunction of (1) time, (2) cause, (3) means, instrument, &c., according as the analysis of the English sentence may require: as,
 - (1) Saying (i.e. whilst, or as, Während er bies fagte, ging er he said) this, he went out. hinaus.
 - (2) Being (i.e. as I was) ill, I could not come.
 - ing (i.e. because he had stolen) a horse.
 - that we persuade) others, we convince ourselves.
- Da ich frank war, fo fonnte ich nicht fommen.
 - He was punished for steal- Er wurde bestraft, weil er ein Bferb geftohlen hatte.
 - (3) By persuading (i.e. thereby Dadurch daß wir andere iiber= reden,* überzengen wir uns felbit.

^{*} We might also turn by-burch lleberredung Anderer, see (c) 3, &c.

Notice the following peculiarities in which the $German\ Auxiliary\ Verbs\ of\ Mood-$ wollen, follen, müjjen, fönnen, mögen, bürfen.

will, shall, must, can, may, be allowed (dare).
differ from other Verbs, and from their English cognates, either in conjugation or in construction, or in both:—

- (1) Vowel-change in the Indicat. Pres. Sing. (except sollen): as, ich will (soll), muß, fann, mag, barf, &c. wir wollen, sollen, müssen, müssen, bürsen, &c.
- (2) No vowel-modification in the Pret. (Impf.) Indic. and Part. Perf.: as,
- (ich wollte, follte); mußte, kounte, mochte, durfte, &c. (gewollt, gefollt); gewußt, gekonnt, gemocht, gedurft.

(4) Two forms for the Participle Perfect, i.e. the new (or weak) form (see 2), and the old (strong) form, identical with the Infinitive Pres.; which latter must be used whenever it is joined with another Verb in the Infinitive:—

3ch habe gewollt (gemußt), &c. I have been willing (compelled). 3ch habe gehen wollen (milsen). I have been willing (forced) to go, &c.

Notice especially, as entirely differing from English, the construction of the Subjunctive Pluperfect used for the Conditional Perfect:—

3ch hatte bleiben follen. Du hattest folgen follen.

3ch hätte zahlen müffen.

Du hätteft ichreiben muffen.

3ch hatte es thun fonnen.

Ich hätte es thun mögen.

EXERCISE XIX. The Passive Voice, see § 53, pp. 72, 73.

Distinguish carefully between—

(a) The Passive Imperfect, and (b) the Passive Perfect, (Continuous), denoting the actual progress of an action, or a permanent state of things :-

Sch werbe beftraft.* (i.e. jest ftraft man mich) I am being punished (now).

Erwird im Lateinischen unterrichtet. He is being taught Latin.

3ch (werde immer) gestraft. (i.e. man ftraft mich immer) wenn ich nicht gehorche. I am (always) punished, when I do not obey.

Das haus wird (wurde) gebaut. The house is (was) being built. (it is [was] not finished vet)

Im Sommer wird bas Thor um gebu Uhr, im Winter um neun, geichloffen.

In summer the gate is (regularly) closed at ten, in winter at nine.

denoting the full accomplishment of an action :-

3ch bin bestraft. * (i.e. man bat mich bestraft) I am punished (i.e. the deed is done, but the consequences still make themselves felt!)

Er ift aut unterrichtet. He has been well taught. (he is well informed) 3ch bin geftraft worben, weil ich nicht gehorchen wollte.

I have been punished, because I would not obey.

Das Saus ift (war) gebaut. The house is (was) built (finished). (i.e. it is now [was then] ready for occupation)

Das Thor ift gefchloffen. The gate is already closed. (We are too late)

Co eben ift bas Thor geichloffen morben.

This very minute the gate has been closed.

* By way of a test, put the verb into the active voice; if then it requires to be in the same tense, the aux. verb werden (i.e. the passive voice) must be used; if not, use fein.

Obs.1. Distinguish carefully between--

(a) Present Passive:-

am being heaten.

Aux.V. + Part. Perf. 3ch werde geschlagen. and

(b) Future Active: -Aux. V. + Infinit. Pres. fdilagen. I shall shall beat.

(c) Future Passive:-

Aux. V. Ich werde I shall Infinit. Perf. geschlagen-werden be-beaten.

Obs. 2. Bear in mind how the construction of the Passive Voice is affected by the transposition of words in dependent clauses:-

NORMAL ORDER in a principal or co-ordinate sentence.

TRANSPOSED ORDER in a sub-ordinate clause; pp. 101-2.

Ich weiß-

Er wird gelobt.

Er ift gelobt worden.

Er wird gelobt werden.

Er wäre gelobt worben.

Er würde gelobt worden fein.

daß er gelobt wird.

baß er gelobt worden ift.

baf er gelobt werben wird.

baf er gelobt morben ware.

S daß er gelobt worden fein würde, or. daf er würde gelobt worden fein.

Obs. 3. It will be seen that with werden the Part. Perf. retains its verbal character, whilst with fein it becomes virtually an adjective used predicatively. Compare further-

Das Rad wird bewegt. The wheel is set in motion.

Gine Schlacht wird acidlagen. A battle is being fought.

Er ift tief bewegt. He is deeply moved (affected). Die Feinde find ganglich gefchlagen. The enemies are totally defeated.

Thus—He is surprised = Gr ift (not wird) erstaunt.

We are willing = Bir find (not werben) geneigt.

The bread was well baked = Das Brot war (not murbe) aut achaden. They were experienced = Sie waren (not murben) erfahren, &c.

Drill.—In the following sentences put the Verb into the passive voice, with interchange of Subject and Object, as-I plant the trees = The trees are planted by me. Ich pflanze die Bäume = Die Bäume werden von mir gepflangt :-

1. Der hund fängt (fing) ben hafen. 2. Das Licht blendet das Auge. 3. Der Sturm hat (hatte) viele Bäume entwurzelt. 4. Ich werbe bas Buch übersetzen. 5. Du wirst (würdest) mich getadelt haben. 6. Wer hat Amerika entdect? 7. Wo schlug Hannibal die Römer?

A. 1. Warum wurde der Stlave zum Tode vernrteilt?— Weil er seinem Herrn entsansen war. 2. Von wem sind die Duellen des Nils entdeckt worden?— Bon englischen Reisenden.

3. Wo wird das beste englische Bier gebraut?— In Burton soll das beste Bier gebraut werden. 4. Nachdem die Stadt beschossen worden war, wurde sie mit Sturm genommen, gensindert und in Asche gelegt. 5. Welch' schlechter Gebrauch wird oft von der Zeit gemacht und wie kostbar ist sie doch! Sie müßte mit Gold gewogen werden, damit ihr Wert richtig geschätzt würde. Wenn aber in die eine Wagschale die zu wiegende Zeit gelegt würde, und in die andere die während derselben zu erfüllenden Psslichten, welche der beiden Wagschalen würde schneller sinken? Zede Minute, die verstreicht, ist ein Teil unseres Lebens, der uns entzogen wird, und von jeder Minute, sagt die Heilige Schrift, wird einst Rechenschaft von uns aefordert werden.

Die Zeit kann mit jenem Pfund Gold verglichen werden, das von einem Hausvater jedem seiner drei Söhne geliehen worden war. Von dem ältesten Sohne wurde das Gold in kurzer Zeit verschwendet, von dem zweiten vergraben, von dem dritten zu seiner Arbeit benutt und der Gewinn auf Zinsen gelegt. Die beiden älteren Söhne wurden von dem Vater streng getadelt und bestraft; den dritten aber, dessen Summe durch Arbeit und Zinsen verdoppelt worden war, lobte und belohnte er reichlich.

EXERCISE XX. The Impersonal Passive Voice.

Only Transitive Verbs that govern the Accusative can, as a rule, be used in the Personal Passive: whilst—

(a) Intransitive Verbs, and (b) Verbs that govern the Dative of the Person, can only be used in the Impersonal Passive Voice in German—Active.

(a) Man läutet um zehn Uhr zur Kirche.

Es wird um zehn Uhr zur Kirche geläutet.*

Er foll sehr reich sein. Ex. xvi (Il doit être...).
Es läßt sich nicht längnen Ex. xviii.

He is not allowed to go. (Il ne lui est pas permis...).

Er barf nicht gehen. Ex. xvii. Es ist ihm nicht ersaubt zu gehen. Ex. xx.

EXERCISE XXII. Impersonal Verbs, see § 54, p. 74.

In addition to the more or less exclusively Impersonal Verbs denoting—

Natural phenomena: as, es schueit, es regnet, &c.

Bodily sensations: as, es durstet mid, es hungert mid, &c.

Mental affections: as, es abut mir, es bünft mid (mid bünft, methinks), &c.

there are in German a great many transitive and intransitive Verbs which admit of being used impersonally to a much wider extent than English Verbs:—

They are best classified according to the constructions by which they are to be rendered in English:—

- (a) answering to an English Impersonal Verb, with there or it for its grammatical subject: as,
 - E3 find nun brei Jahre her. It is now three years since.
 - E3 gibt, there is, there are. Was gibt's? what is the matter?
 - Es hat...gegeben, &c., there has been... Es wird... gegeben haben,
 - Es wird geben, &c., there will be... there will have been...
- (b) answering to an Engl. verbal form in -ing predicating there is, or it is; or to an Infinit. Passive predicating it can.

Thus in the case of many German Verbs used-

(1) passively, see Ex. XX.: as,

G8 wird hier viel gespielt.

There is much playing going on here.

Es wurde die ganze Nacht ge- There was dancing the whole tangt.

(2) reflexively, see Ex. XXIII. : as,

Es wohnt fich bier gang bequem.

Es traf fich, daß wir zusammen ankamen.

Das versteht sich (Cela s'entend).

It is very comfortable to live here. (A very snug place, this!) It so happened that we arrived together.

That is understood (a matter of course).

So especially with laffen, Ex. XVIII.; as,

Es läßt fich nicht läugnen. Es läßt fich leicht benten. There is no denying.

It can easily be imagined.

(c) answering to an Engl. Personal verb with a logical subject (whilst in German the logical subject is put in the Dat. or Acc. case): as,

Es ift mir gelungen.

Wie geht's? (Comment cela vat-il ?)

Es liegt ibm viel baran. Es gefällt mir in Paris.

Es verlangt mich bich zu seben (Il me tarde...).

Es fragt fich, ob ...

Es fehlt an Geld.

Es wird feiner rühmlichft gedacht.

Es gilt bas Leben. Was gilt's?

I have succeeded.

How are you? How do you get on?

He is very anxious about it.

I like Paris. I long to see you.

The question is whether...

Money is wanting.

He is most honourably mentioned.

Life is at stake. What do you bet?

So especially with fein and werben:-

Es ift mir) nicht wohl zu or, Mir ift Mut. Es wird mir warm;

I don't feel comfortable.

I begin to feel warm. or, Mir wird warm.

(d) answering to an English Imperative: see Ex. IX.

Jett wird gelefen!

Now we are going to (let us) read. Now for a reading!

Here may be classed-

(e) the emphatic use of es, to introduce a Verb preceding its logical subject (a very common construction in German, the unusual order being more forcible) :-

Es lebe der König!

Es hebt tie Erbe (bie Erbe bebt).

Es grüßen euch alle Brüber.

Es führt kein andrer Weg nach

No other way leads to Küss-Riifinacht.

Long live the king!

nacht.

"Men are liable to certain feelings, such as shame, fear, repentance, and the like, which seem not to be originated by the person, but seem to come upon him from without. For this reason such impersonal feelings are in some languages represented by impersonal verbs. In Latin such verbs are numerous, 'pudet,' 'piget,' 'tædet,' 'pœnitet,' 'libet,' &c. In early English they were still more numerous, and we retain 'it snows,' 'it hails, 'it rains,' though we have almost, or quite, lost 'methinks,' meseems, 'it shames me,' 'it repents me.'" ABBOTT and SEELY, English Lessons, § 82.

EXERCISE XXIII. Reflexive Verbs, see § 55, p. 75.

A German Reflexive Verb may be rendered in English either-

(a) by a corresponding reflexive Verb: as,

Ich wasche mich. Er hat sich wacker vertheidigt.

I wash myself. He (has) defended himself gallantly.

or, if the English usage does not admit of the reflexive construction,

(b) by the Passive Voice: as,

Sie irren sich (v.v. trompez). Es versteht sich (Cela s'entend). Er versteht sich auf Alles. You are mistaken. It is understood. He is skilled in everything.

(c) by a transitive verb with an object qualified by a possessive adjective, if this object denotes part of the body or a mental faculty: as,

Der reuige Sünder schlug sich die Brust (Le pecheur repentant se frappa la poitrine).

The penitent sinner smote his (own) breast.

Ich zerbreche mir ben Kopf einen Ausweg zu finden.

I am racking my brains to find a stratagem.

(d) by the various other constructions: as,

Bie besinden Sie sich? Bom sichern Port läßt sich's gemächlich raten (Ex. xviii.). Borum handelt es sich? (De quoi s'agit-il?) Es handelt sich es kühn zu wagen.

How do you do? Safe in the port it is easy to advise.

What is the question about?

The question is to attempt it boldly.

Obs. 1. Reflective Verbs take either-

(1) an Accusative of the Person affected by the action, and a Genitive of the Object of the Action:—

Ich erinnere mich beffen.

I recollect it.

or (2) an Accusative of the Thing, and a Dative of the Person :
Du bitten bir was Großes ein. You fancy yourself mightily great.

Obs. 2. Notice the factitive use of Reflexive Verbs :-

Sich krank lachen. Sich mübe laufen. lit. To laugh one's self ill. lit. To run one's self tired.

- A. 1. Gewöhne bich frühzeitig dich zu beherrschen!—Ich bestrebe mich Ihrem guten Nate zu folgen. 2. EXERCISE XXIV. A. INSEPARABLE Compound Verbs.

The formation and conjugation of these, as compared with Separable Compound Verbs, are given on pp. 76-78. For the better understanding of their use, it remains to illustrate by examples the bearing of the inseparable prefixes (bc, gc; cutemp, cr, ver, ger, on the meaning or force of the Simple Verbs to which they are prefixed.

- (a) be= (cognate with the prep. bei, by) is used—
- (1) to make intransitive verbs transitive, denoting the application of an action to a special object: as,

feben, to live; befeben, to animate. | streiten, to quarrel; bestreiten, to dispute. weinen, to weep; beweinen, to bewail. | wachen, to be awake; bewachen, to watch:—

Er steigt auf ben Thron. Er besteigt ben Thron.

He steps on the throne. He ascends the throne.

(2) to give a different direction to the action expressed by a transitive verb: as,

Er faet ben Samen auf bas Felb. } He sows the seed in the field.

It will be seen (1) that the Indir. Obj., denoting the recipient (bas Feid) of the simple verb (fücu) becomes the Direct Object of the compound verb (befücu); and that (2) vice verså, the Dir. Obj. (denoting the material, ben Samen) of the simple Verb becomes the Indir. Complement (mit Samen) of the comp. Verb.

Er malt Bilber auf die Band. Er bemalt bie Band mit Bilbern.

Er fchenkte ihm einen Thaler. Er beschenkte ihn mit einem Thaler.

Ich fürchte ihn (or, mich vor ihm). Ich befürchte einen Unglücksfall.

Hence in the passive voice—

Das Bild wird (ift) gemalt.
- Cf. also-Der Tisch ift gebeckt.

He paints pictures on the wall. He bepaints the wall with pictures.

lit. He gave to him a dollar. He presented him with a dollar.

I fear him.
I dread (apprehend) a misfortune.

Die Wand wird (ift) bemalt. Die Alpen find mit Schnee bedeckt.

or (3) to form transitive verbs from Nouns and Adjectives denoting—to endow with (i.e. with that which is expressed by the Noun or Adj.): as, ber Thau, the dew; ber Nausch, the intoxication; ber Geist, the spirit; bas Glud, the happiness; bee Gabe, the gist; ber Flügel, the wing; frei, free; studt, moist; bethauen, to bedew.

berauschen, to intoxicate.
begeistern, to inspire.
beglisten, to make happy.
begaben, to endow (begabt, gisted).
bessien, to give wings.
bessien, to free.
beseuchten, to bedew, moisten.

In a few cases the simple form is lost:-beginnen, to begin.

(b) er= denotes forth from, out of, and is used to express-

(1) the origin or gradual progress of an action or condition: as, scheinen, to shine; erscheinen, to appear. ziehen, to draw; erziehen, to educate.

[i.e. er= (cognate with Lat. ex-) + zichen (cognate with Lat. ducere)] bauen, to build; erbauen, to edify. blind; erblinden, to become blind.

(2) the obtaining of an object by means of the action expressed by the Simple Verb: as, betteln, to beg; trogen, to defy; benten, to think, to cogitate; bliden to look; erbetteln, to obtain by begging. ertroten, to obtain by threats. erbenten, to excogitate; to contrive. erblicten, to perceive.

- (c) ge= conveys no very definite meaning; in gestieren (from frieren, to freeze), and gerinnen, to coagulate (from rinnen to run), it suggests an idea of concentration; comp. the formation of Nouns denoting companionship, as—Geselschaft, company; Gespiese, playmate, &c.
- (d) cut=* (older form =aut, as in Antwort, answer) denotes not only towards, against (the speaker), but also away from (with respect to the starting point):—

sprechen, to speak; entsprechen, to correspond.

springen, to spring; entspringen, to spring up; to take its rise.

fommen, to come; entfommen, to escape.

laufen, to run; entlaufen, to run away from.

Erbe, inheritance; enterben, to disinherit. Ehron, throne; enthumen, to dethrone. Saupt, head; enthumpten, to behead.

mutig, courageous; entmutigen, to discourage.

- * Or \mathfrak{emp}_s , by assimilation: the dentals \mathfrak{nt} become the labials \mathfrak{mp} before the labial \mathfrak{f} in the strong verbs—empfangen, empfehsen, empfinden.
 - (e) ver= (cognate with vor, English for in forsake) is used-
 - (1) in the sense of away, off, wrong, amiss: as,

fennen, to know;
Ieiten, to lead;
geben, to give;
Iernen, to learn;
achten, to esteem;
falzen, to salt;
fpiesen, to play;

verseiten, to misjudge. verseiten, to mislead. verseben, to forgive; to give away.

versernen, to unlearn.

branchen, to need, rouse; branchen, to consume; to spend.

or (2) simply to intensify the meaning of the stem: as, ändern, verändern, to alter ; bergen, verbergen, to conceal.

(3)—with Nouns—to denote the process of covering with, transforming into: as,

Golb-vergolben, to gild; Silber-verfilbern, to silver. Stein-verfteinern, to petrify; Gott-vergöttern, to idolize, &c.

(4) with Adjectives (in the positive or comparative) in the sense of 'to endow with (or, intensify) the quality' expressed by the adj.: as, bunn, thin; verbunnen, to dilute; ichoner, finer; vericonern, to embellish.

(f) 3er* (cognate with dis, asunder) denotes separation, dissolution, disintegration; hence ruin, destruction, annihilation, &c.: as, fallen, to fall; zerfallen, to decay. stören, to disturb; zerftören, to destroy.

Examples of the modifications of meaning:-

(1) stehen, to stand:-

EXERCISE XXVII. C. Prefixes SEPARABLE or INSEPARABLE, pp. 80, 81.

The Prefixes burths, invers, unters, ums, may be either separable or inseparable, according as the Compound Verb is used—

(a) in a literal or concrete sense; the prefix (accented, and hence separable) is only incidentally tacked before the Verb, and detached from it when the laws of construction allow it.*

N.B.—If separable, these CompoundVerbs, may be transitive or intransitive like the Simple Verbs with which they are compounded:—

Infinit. ü'ber-feten, to set (put)

Part. P. ü'ber=gesett, set (put)

(1) Intransitive, or (2) Transitive :-

(1) Der Solbat sett über ben Fins. The soldier sets over (crosses) the river.

Er hat über den Fluß gesett. Es ift ihm gelungen über den Fluß zu setzen.

(2) Der Fährmann fett (puts) ben Solbaten über ben Fluff,

(b) in a derived or abstract sense; the prefix (unaccented, and hence inseparable) is indissolubly rivetted to the Verb (and, as it were, rolled into one with it).

N.B.—If inseparable, these Compound Verbs are always transitive, no matter whether the Simple Verbs be themselves transit, or intrans.:—

überfeti'en, to translate.

übersetit, translated :--

Transitive only :-

Bog übersette ben homer. Voss translated Homer.

Boß hat die Jlias überfekt. Es gelang ihm fie zu überfeken.

* The fact is, the normal place of the separable prefix is after the Verb; but the prefix is dislodged from this place by the peculiarity of German construction, which requires the Infin. or P. Part. to stand last in principal clauses, and the finite Verb to stand last in dependent clauses. Hence—

Pres. Man ftreicht die Stelle durch.

Man ftrid) bie Stelle burd).

Infin .: -

Ich will sie burch=

P.P.:-

sch habe sie durch= gestrichen.

Imper. Streiche die Stelle burch.

Dep. Clause: - Die Stelle, die ich burch= ftreiche.

Obs. It will be seen-

(1) that the separable Compound Verb, if transitive, has its Dir. Obj. independently of the prefix, which stands in adverbial relation—

Dir. Ohj. Advl. compl. of place.

Id pflanze die Bäume um' (adv.).
I transplant the trees.
I plant the trees round the well.

(2) that the inseparable Compound Verb (always transitive with these prefixes), has a different object (the acc. of the recipient, as in the case of the inseparable prefix bes, see pp. 146, 147):—

Dir. Obj. (recipient).

Advl. compl. of instrument.

3ch umpflan'ze die Quelle mit Bäumen.

Compare further-

Inf. un'ter-schreiben, to write under.

P.P. un'ter-geschrieben, written under.

Er schreibt seinen Ramen, unter bie Bittschrift.

He writes his name under the petition.

Inf. durch'-streichen, to line through.

P.P. durch'-gestrichen, lined through.

Der Lehrer streicht die Fehler burch'. The master runs his pen through the mistakes.

Inf. ü'ber-gehen, to go over. P.P. ü'bergegangen, gone over. Ein ganzes Regiment ging zum Feinde über. (— ift zum Keinde übergegangen.) unterschrei'ben, to subscribe, sign.
unterschrie'ben, signed.

Er unterschreibt' ben Brief.

He signs the letter.

durchstrei'chen, to scour. durchstrich'en, scoured.

Der Feind durchstreicht' das Land.

The enemy scours the country.

überge'hen, to skip. übergan'gen, skipped. Er überging' die Stelle.

- (2) in a comprehensive sense, i.e. to show that the Noun is used to denote a whole Class:—

- Die Blätter sind der Schmuck Leaves are the ornaments of der Bäume.

Thus also before Collective Nouns :-

- (2) before Abstract Nouns used in their unlimited sense:
- Das Leben ist furz, die Kunst Life is short, art is long. ist lang.

D. CASES OF NOUNS.

EXERCISE XXXVI. THE NOMINATIVE AND THE ACCUSATIVE.

I. The Nominative stands either as the Subject of a Clause, or as a Predicate-Complement of the Verbs sciu, werden, scheinen, bleiben, heißen, nennen, &c.: as,

Ein bojer Nachbar ist ein tägliches - Unglück.

Mein Freund wird Solbat. Er bleibt mein Freund.

Er heißt Rarl.

My friend is becoming a soldier. He remains my friend.

A bad neighbour is a daily misfortune.

He is called (his name is) Charles.

Bist du es?—Ja, ich bin es. Is it you?--Yes, it is I (I am he).

A Noun in apposition is, as a rule, put in the same case as the Noun it qualifies:—

Bum Rampf ber Wagen und Gefänge jog Ibntus, ber Götterfreund.

II. The Accusative stands-

(a) as the Direct (or, nearer) Object of a transitive Verb: as,

Ich schreibe einen Brief. Wen haft bu gesehn, ihn ober fie? Beluftigst bu bich?*

I am writing a letter.

Whom did you see, him or her?

Do you amuse yourself?

* Reflexive Verbs govern either-

(1) the Accusative + the Genitive; or (2) the Dative + the Accusative.
(of the person) (of the thing) (of the pers.) (of the thing)
In part bir bie Hand verset.

Obs. 1. Although, on the whole, German Transitive Verbs correspond to English Transitive Verbs, there are not a few which do not govern the same case in the two languages: as,

With Accusative; with Dative.
to imitate, nachahmen.
to meet, begegnen,
to help, assist, belfen, beistehen.
to believe, glauben.
to thank, to owe, banken.

to obey, gehorchen.
to follow, folgen.
to please, gefallen.
to threaten, brohen.
to serve, bienen, &c.

With Accusative; with Dative.

This is all the more important to remember because, as has been explained in Ex. XX., p. 140, only Verbs which govern the accusative may be used in the personal Passive Voice in German:—

Active: They pursue me. Man fest mir nad.

Passive: I am pursued. Mir wird nachgesett (not-ich werde nachgesett).

For those Verbs which, vice versa, govern the Acc. in German, but the Dat. in English, see Ex. XXXIX.

Ohs. 2. Many intransitive Verbs become transitive by being compounded with the inseparable prefixes be: (see p. 147), burths, hinters, iffers uns (see p. 154).

(b) as the Predicative Complement of a Direct Object (Double Accusative), especially after Verbs of teaching (lehren), calling (beigen), naming (mennen), asking (fragen): as,

Wer hat dich das gelehrt? Man heißt den Löwen oft den König der Wüste.

Bas haft bu ihn gefragt?

Who has taught you that?
The lion is often called the king of the desert.
What have you asked him?

Obs. This rule does not apply to Verbs of electing, appointing, creating, making, for which see Ex. XL.

(c) as the Cognate Object of an originally intransitive Verb ("by a stretch of the conception, especially in poetry and animated language."—ROBY, Lat. Gr., § 469).

Er schläft den Schlaf eines Ges He sleeps the sleep of the just. rechten.

Fight the good fight.
He died the death of a hero.

Rämpfe ben guten Rampf. Er ftarb ben Selbentob.

(d) as the logical Subject of an Impersonal Verb (the impers. Pron. e3 standing generally by way of introducing the Verb, see Ex. XXII.): as,

Es hungert mich, or Mich hungert. (i.e. ich bin hungrig.) Es bünkt mich, or Mich bünkt.

Es bünkt mich, or Mich bünkt. Dieses Jahr gibt es einen guten Wein. (=Obsol.Engl.: It hungers me.) I am (feel) hungry.

Methinks.

There will be good wine this year (i.e. good wine will grow this year).

(e) as an Adverbial Complement-

(1) of definite time—answering the questions when? how long?: as,

Montag, den britten April. Ich arbeitete den ganzen Tag.

Monday, the third of April. I worked the whole day.

(2) of space or measure—answering the questions how far? how great? how high? how old? how much? &c., especially with the Adjectives—weit, groß, hoch, alt, wert, &c., and the Verbs—fosten, wiegen, gesten, &c.: as,

Der Ballen wiegt einen Zentner. Der Ballen ist einen Zentner fichwer.

The bale weighs a hundredweight.

Der Turm ist brei hundert Fuß hoch.

The tower is three hundred feet high.

Wie alt ist bas Kind?—Nur

How old is the baby?—Only one month.

(3) of attendant circumstance (accusative absolute):—

Den Tornister auf bem Rücken, wanderte er über Berg und Thal. With the knapsack on his shoulders, he wandered over hill and dale.

(f) as the Complement of a Preposition governing the Accusative—see §§ 63, 65; and Exs. LI., LIII.

EXERCISE XXXVII. The GENITIVE depending on a Noun.

N.B. For practical purposes it will be convenient to sub-divide the uses of the Genitive into the Subjective and Objective—a distinction which an example or two will suffice to make plain:—

Subject.
Alexander despised danger = Subj. Genit. Objective Genit.
Alexander verachtete die Gefahr = Alexander's contempt of danger.
Mlegander verachtene des Gefahr.

I. The Subjective Genitive is used to denote relations of-

(a) possession, origin, extraction, quality, definition, &c.: as,

Das Heer des Raifers, or-

Schillers Werke. Die Werke

des Dichters. Das Sinnbild der Unschuld. Nürnberger (gen. pl.) Waaren. Ein Gafthof ersten Ranges.

(or-von erstem Range.) Ein Schüler Ramens Rarl.

The army of the emperor; or,

The emperor's army.

Schiller's works. The works of the poet.

The symbol of innocence.

Nuremberg wares.

Nuremberg wares.
A first-class hotel.

An hotel of the first rank.
A pupil of the name of Charles.

(b) a part or fraction to the whole (Partitive Genitive): as,

Der größte Theil bes Abels. Ein Centner bes feinsten Schieß= vulvers.* The greater part of the nobility. A hundredweight of the finest gunpowder.

* As a rule, a Collective Noun is put in the Genitive only if qualified by an Adjective or an Adjectival Clause; see II.

Obs. After genug, wenig, viel, mehrere, and cardinal numbers, the Genrive is not unusual:—

Der Worte find genug gewechselt.

A truce to the contention!

Caution.—Relations of possession, origin, quality, &c., are rendered by the prep. von, with the Dative in the case of Nouns used without a determinative adjunct (article, adjective, or pronoun), indicating the Genitive relation; especially—

(1) if the Noun itself is altogether devoid of case-inflections (Proper Nouns ending in a sibilant being indeclinable, p. 23): as,

Die Bevölkerung von Paris.

(2) if the Noun is in the Genitive Plural, the inflection of which does not distinguish it from the Nom. or Acc.: as,

Ein Mann von breißig Jahren (The Gen. pl. breißig Jahre would not convey a distinctive Genitive relation—breißig being indeclinable, and Jahre having the same ending as in the Nom. and Acc.).

This important rule applies particularly to-

(a) Proper names of Countries and Places: as, Das Ebift von Rantes. Die Eroberung von Cabig.

Even with Proper Names with a case-inflection, bon is preferred-

Die Königin von England (Englands Königin, only in poetic diction). Das Erbbeben von Liffabon. The earthquake of Lisbon.

Obs. This does not apply to Feminine Names of Countries (which must be used with the Def. Art.) nor to Proper Names of Persons: as, bie Berge der Schweiz; die Schulben der Türkei; die Weisheit des Sofrates.

(b) Nouns denoting material, quality, definition, &c., which (being used partitively or adjectively) take no def. article: as,

Ein Ring von Gold.

A ring of gold. Gin Mann von Talent (von A man of talent (of heart). Herz).

Gine Familie von hohem Unfehen. A family of high repute.

(c) Nouns qualified by cardinal numbers, which are devoid of case-inflections: as,

A period of six weeks. Ein Zeitraum von feche Wochen.

(d) Pronouns, Numerals, Adjectives in the Superlative degree, used Substantively: as,

Wer von euch? Welder von beiden? Der Reichste von Allen. Sieben von (unter) ihnen.

Who among you? Which of the two? The richest of all. Seven of them.

Here the Genitive, though not ungrammatical, is hardly ever used.

II. THE PARTITIVE RELATION IN APPOSITION.

An Attribute used partitively after a Noun denotingmeasure, weight, number, &c., is, as a rule, simply put in apposition (without case-inflection or preposition): as,

Ein Glas Wein. Gin Buch Papier. Behn Pfund Zuder. Seche Dutend Gier. Eine Menge Leute. Gin Stud Brot und Raje. A glass of wine. A quire of paper. Ten pounds of sugar. Six dozen eggs. A quantity of people. A piece of bread and cheese.

Thus also after Nouns denoting definition: as,

Das Königreich Brengen. Die Stadt (Universität) Bonn. Der Monat März. Gine Art Infeften.

The kingdom of Prussia. The town (university) of Bonn. The month of March. A kind of insects.

^{*} So also-Ende Februar, Mitte Januar, Anfang Mai, and after Ordinal Numbers :- Den erften April. The first of April.

III. The Objective Genitive stands as the Object of Verbal Nouns, the verbal force of which still makes itself felt; cf.—
Subjective:— Objective:—

Edifons Erfindungen. Die Erfindung bes Schiefpulvers.

Obs. The obj. relation of one Noun to another may also be rendered—

(1) by a Compound Noun: as. Die Todesverachtung, instead of—Die Berachtung des Todes.

Die Freiheitzliebe "Die Liebe zur (ber) Freiheit.
Der Thrannenhaß "Der Haß gegen die Thrannen.

(2) by a Preposition—generally, the same Preposition as would be used after the Verb from which the Noun is derived:

3ch freue mich über } ben Erfolg. I rejoice at The rejoicing at } the success.

3ch hoffe auf } Shren I hope for My hope for } your assistance.

The Apposite is put in the same case as the Noun qualified: as, Die Thaten Meganders des Großen. (See, however, p. 23.)

- A. 1. Jit Ihr Freund ein Mann von Stande?—Ja freilich, und ein Mann von Shre dazu. 2. Welche von diesen Schülern haben Ihre Aufgaben nicht gemacht?—Das brauchen Sie kaum zu fragen: Die Trägen. 3. Hat Niemand von ihnen Lust mich zu begleiten?—Doch, mehrere von ihnen möchten Sie gerne begleiten. 4. Was stellt diese Bilbsäule vor?—Den Koloß von Rhodus. 5. I have ordered a pair of shoes and two pairs of boots to be made in Paris. 10. The temples of Athens were masterpieces of architecture. 11. Every Greek learnt a part of the poems of Homer by heart.

EXERCISE XXXVIII. The GENITIVE depending on a VERB or ADJECTIVE.

A. The Genitive stands as an Indirect Object-

- (a)—along with the accusative of the Person—after Transitive (especially reflexive) Verbs which denote—
- (1) recollecting, becoming aware of; reminding, accusing, &c., and their contraries—forgetting, excusing, &c.

Ich erinnere mich mit Freuben meiner Jugenb.
Tr ist sich bessen nicht bewußt.
Besinne bich eines Bessen.
Man hat ihn bes Diebstahls angeklagt. Bergiß mein (meiner) nicht. I remember my youth with pleasure.

He is not conscious of it. Think better of it.

He has been accused of theft.

Forget me not.

(2) participating, presuming, attending, &c. and their contraries—wanting, depriving, exempting: as,

Ernahm sich besarmen Kindes an. Die Jinger fonnten sich bes Schlafes nicht erwehren. He befriended the poor child. The disciples could not resist sleep.

(3) feeling: i.e. rejoicing, boasting, repenting, pitying, mocking: as,

Gott erbarme fich bes Landes!

Du barfft bich beiner Wahl nicht fchämen.

Du rühmst bich beines sichern

May God have mercy on our country!

You need not be ashamed of your choice.

You pride yourself on your steady glance.

- (b) with Intransitive Verbs and with Adjectives of a similar meaning: as,

He is guilty of an abominable crime.

It does not require many words. He takes care of his health.
I got rid of my bonds (fetters).

They mocked him. He is tired of waiting.

B. The Predicative Genitive (generally of the possessor) is often used with fein, werden (expressed or understood): as, Bebet bem Raifer mas bes Raifers Give unto Cæsar what is Casar's. iît.

Erift gutes Mutes (guter Dinge). Selig find bie reines Bergens

Blessed are those who are pure find. in heart. Do your duty.

He is of good cheer.

Thue was beines Amtes ift.

C. An Adverbial Genitive of time (indefinite) place, manner or cause), occurs in many standing phrases— In the (of a) morning, evening, &c. Des Morgens; bes Abends; 2c. To go one's way. Seines Weges geben. Meines Wiffens. Sungers fterben. Tomyknowledge. To die of hunger.

For Prepositions which govern the Genitive, see p. 90 and Ex. LIV.

Spare me! 13. He consoled himself with the hope of better days.

The general tendency in Modern German is, however, to use the Accusative or a Preposition, in preference to the Genitive which in many cases now only obtains in standing phrases, and in poetic diction. As no definite rule can be given on this head for the guidance of Students, a brief classified list of Verbs and Adjectives which govern either the Genitive or the Accusative, or a Preposition, is subjoined here for the sake of reference.

(1) Transitive Verbs which (along with the Acc. of the Person) may be used with either the Genitive, or von with the Dative (of the thing) :-

EXERCISE XXXIX. THE DATIVE.

The Dative is the case of Indirect (Remoter) Object.* It is used with—

(a) Transitive Verbs—along with the Accusative of the thing—

(1)—as in English—in answer to the questions to whom? for whom? with Verbs of giving, adding, and the like: as,

Er fcbrieb mir einen Brief. +

mir versprichst ihm gu ge= borchen.

Gott verlieh bem Menschen Sprache God bestowed speech und Bernunft. +

He wrote a letter to me. 3ch will bir vergeben, wenn bu I will forgive you, if you promise me to obey him. ± > and reason on man.

Obs. A few Verbs which govern the Dat. in English, are construed with a Preposition in German: as, to accustom to, gewöhnen an; to apply to, fich wenden an; to attend to, achten auf;

to listen to, hören auf (or zuhören): to agree (consent) to, einwilligen in; to bow to, fich verneigen vor.

(2)—contrary to English, but in analogy with Latin and French-in answer to the question from whom? with Verbs of taking away, removing, preventing, depriving: as,

Man nahm mir Alles was ich hatte.

They took from me everything I had.

Der Fuche entging ber Schlinge. Der Betrüger hat ihm (lui) hundert Pfund abgewonnen. Raufen Sie mir boch mas ab!

The fox escaped from the snare. The cheat won a hundred pounds from him. Do buy something of me!

Caution.—Bear in mind that, with many Verbs, the sign of the dative to is often omitted in English, especially if put before the accusative of the thing: compare-

> The air had given everybody an appetite. The air had given an appetite to everybody.

Give me that book. Gib mir bies Buch. Give that book to me.

* Among Compound Verbs, it is especially those compounded with an=, ab=, auf=, au8=, bei=, mit=, nadj=, vor=, gu=; be=, ent=, er=, ver=, that govern the Dative. + As a rule, the Dative of the person is put before the Acc. of the

For Verbs which govern the Dat. in German, and the Acc. in English, see Ex. XXVI.

(b) The Dative stands after intransitive Verbs—

(1) in answer to the questions—for whom? to whom? for whose good (advantage)? towards what? &c.: as,

So was ift mir noch nie begegnet. Such a thing never happened to me yet.

So gefällst bu mir!

Bas fehlt dir? Sie gehen einem gewiffen Tob entgegen.

Wie geht es bir?—Mir geht es gut. am very well.

How are you getting on ?-I

Thus thou pleasest me. What ails you?

Thrämen erseichtern mir das herz.

Tears relieve my heart.

Thränen erleichtern mir bas Berg. Geh mir aus bem Bege!

(1) with Impersonal Verbs: as,

Es thut mir wirklich leib.

Es liegt bir barau, baß es ihm gelinge.

Mir schandert's, wenn ich daran benke.

It would be better for me, had I never been born.

For the Dat. after Prepositions, see pp. 87-90, and Exs. LII., LIII. Obs. Bear in mind that the Apposition must stand in the same case as the Noun it qualifies:—

EXERCISE XL. VERBS WHICH REQUIRE A DIFFERENT CASE OR A DIFFERENT PREPOSITION IN THE TWO LANGUAGES.

A. Most factitive Verbs (i.e. Verbs denoting-to make, to appoint, to elect, to consider, to take to be, &c.) are in English (as in Latin and French) construed with a double Accusative—i.e. an acc. of the person appointed, &c., and a predicative acc., denoting the office or appointment; in German the latter is construed with a Preposition (zu, für), or with als.

The English Predicative Accusative is rendered in German

(1) by an with the Dative, after the Verbs-to make, maden; to appoint, ernennen, bestimmen, einseten, bestellen. to elect, choose, erwählen; to ordain, weihen, &c.

He has been elected president Er ift zum Brafibenten ermabit (see Ex. XXXIX.). worben.

The prisoners of war were made slaves.

Die Rriegsgefangenen murben au Eflaven gemacht.

Ehrenmann.

(2) by für with the Accusative, after the Verbs-to take (for), halten; to deem, achten.

to declare, erffaren; to pretend to be,* sich ausgeben, &c. : as, Do you deem him your friend? Salten Gie ibn für Ihren Freund?

(3) by als with the Accusative, after the Verbs-to consider, ansehen, betrachten; to know to be, kennen, &c.: as, You know me to be * a man of Gie fennen mich ja als einen honour.

* Notice, in English, the use of the Infinitive in the sense of für or als.

Obs. A few verbs of this class are also in English construed with for or as, answering to the German 311, für, or als:-

A tub served Diogenes for a dwell-Ein Fag biente bem Diogenes gur ing. Wohnung.

Er gilt für einen Propheten. He passes for a prophet.

A. 1. He was appointed captain on the battle-field. 2. Man is mortal; he turns to dust. 3. We consider it a great honour. 4. Who made you a judge between us? 5. This deed redounds to his honour. 6. Noch jetzt seh' ich die Helden Homer's und sühle Ossian's Klagen, obgleich die Schatten der Sänger und ihrer Helden sich lange der Erde entslohen sind. Ein bewegter Hauch des Mundes hat sie unsterblich gemacht und bringt ihre Gestalten vor mich. Was je der Geist des Menschen aussann, was die Weisen der Borzeit dachten, kommt, wenn es mir die Borsehung vergönnt hat, allein durch die Sprache zu mir. Durch sie ist meine denkende Seele an die Seele des ersten und vielleicht des letzten denkenden Menschen geknüpft; kurz, die Sprache ist der Charakter unserer Bernunft, durch welchen sie allein Gestalt gewinnt und sich fortpslanzt.

SHORT STORIES FOR COMPOSITION.

The Clever Starling.

A thirsty starling wanted to (= would) drink. Before him stood a bottle with some water in it; yet he could not reach it with his short beak. He would have broken the glass, but it was too thick. Then he tried to upset the bottle; but for that he was too weak. At last, by dint of thinking, he hit (came) upon a happy idea. He gathered little stones, and threw them into the bottle. By this means the water rose so high that he could reach it with his beak and quench his thirst.

The Influence of Religion.

As the Caliph Hussain, a son of the great Ali, once sat at table, one of his slaves dropped (= let fall) a basin of boiling rice on his head. Angrily the caliph looked at the slave, and the latter, trembling and quivering, threw himself down at his feet and spake the following words from (=out of) the Koran: "(The) Paradise is prepared for those who restrain their anger and control it." Calmly Hussain answered: "I am not angry." The slave continued in the same verse: "and who pardon those who have offended them." Hussain, without looking at him, said (= spoke): "I forgive you (Sing.)." The slave went on: "And God loves those above all who requite evil with good." Hussain kindly stretched out his hand to him: "Well then, rise! I give you your (= the) liberty, and four hundred drachmas." Deeply touched, the slave embraced his feet: "Oh my lord," he exclaimed, "thou art like the noble tree; it lends its shadow, it lavishes its fruit even on him who with (an) audacious arm throws stones against it."

The Slanderer.

Sultan Mahmud was very angry with an officer of his guard for a trifling cause. He ordered him to be seized and to be led to (the) death without delay. The condemned [man], whom this inconsiderate severity made indignant, on going away, called the Sultan a tyrant and a savage. Mahmud, who did not understand him, asked the bystanders what he had said. One of the viziers who pitied the condemned [man] and wished to spare the Sultan a sorrow, began to speak, and alleged that the officer had (Ex. VI.) said: "God loves those who can moderate their anger and pardon unpremeditated offences." The Sultan repented and said: "Well, then, go and tell the guard that I remit (him) his punishment."

One of the bystanding courtiers, however, who was an enemy of the vizier, turned to the Sultan and said: "A servant must not deceive his master, nor conceal the truth. The condemned [man] has abused my Lord, the Sultan, and uttered culpable words against him." Mahmud looked angrily at the informant: "The vizier's good-natured untruth pleases me better than thy malicious truth"

The Poodle.

Owing to his good memory, his patience, good-nature, and obedience, the poodle is very docile. He can learn to beat the drum, fire pistols, climb up ladders, and to play comedies with companions. He likes to imitate (§ 62, Obs. 3) his masters, and is rather proud of it. Continually he looks up to his master and does what he sees him do. If his master looks out of the window, he jumps to his side, puts both paws on the sill, and peeps forth likewise at the beautiful prospect. If his master digs up a plant anywhere, he also begins to scratch with his paws; if his master looks for stones the poodle does the same. Because he sees his master bear a cane, and the cook (f.) a basket, he also wants to bear one. He carries it cautiously, goes from one person to the other in order to show how clever he is (Ex. VI.); he complacently wags his tail, and at the same time looks contemptuously at (the) other dogs as good-for-nothing fellows.

Perseverance of Demosthenes.

1. Demosthenes was not descended from the noble families of Athens, from which Cimon, Pericles, and Alcibiades had sprung; his father was the owner of a remunerative manufactory of arms. Early he had lost his father, and his patrimony was squandered by selfish guardians. He was a weak and sickly lad, and was therefore not strictly trained in athletic sports. On that account he became the laughing-stock of his schoolfellows, and received from them all kinds of galling nicknames. In his sixteenth year he heard Callistratus, who had a great reputation, speak in public on the occasion of a quarrel between Athens and Thebes. He was astonished at the power of eloquence, and when at the conclusion he heard the general applause and [saw] how the orator was loaded with praises, when he saw the people escort the popular man as in triumph to his home, then in the mind of the youth the resolution was confirmed to compete for the same palm. Now he had no other thought than this, no occupation but to elaborate speeches. With the greatest zeal he studied the works of the great Greek authors, he became an auditor of Plato, and a pupil of Isaeus in oratory.

- 2. Thus prepared, he ventured to appear before the people, but he was hissed and derided. A second attempt did not succeed better. With covered face he ran home to hide his shame. He was followed by his friend Satyrus, an actor. Demosthenes complained of the people, who listened with pleasure to brutal and ignorant men, whilst he, who had almost sacrificed his health to oratory, could win no applause. "You are right," said Satyrus, "but I will remedy the evil, which is the cause of it, if you will recite to me a passage from Sophocles or Euripides." Demosthenes did so immediately, and now the actor repeated the same passage with such a power of action and such vivid expression that Demosthenes thought he heard (= believed to hear) quite different verses. He understood that he was as yet quite deficient in voice and elocution, and that he must commence an altogether new practice.
- 3. Demosthenes was short of breath and had a weak voice; like Alcibiades he could not pronounce the letter r. All these defects he endeavoured to remedy by uninterrupted exertions. He went to the sea-shore, where the breakers roared the strongest, and endeavoured here to outcry the bluster of the billows. He put pebbles into his mouth and tried to speak distinctly in spite of these obstacles; he went up steep mountains reciting (= and recited at the same time) long speeches to accustom his breath to greater power of endurance; he at last took a room below the ground in which, secluded from all intercourse, he incessantly practised himself before a looking-glass in action, declamation, and play of countenance. Nay, Plutarch relates that Demosthenes, in order to make it impossible for him to go out, had shaved his head bald on one side. Thus he was fettered for months to his subterranean room. in which he incessantly busied himself with meditations on, and practice in, his art; from which he at last emerged as an accomplished orator to enrapture and govern at his pleasure the very people that had hitherto mocked him. His speeches have excited the admiration of all times. All great orators after Demosthenes have emulated him, but no one has equalled him.

VOCABULARY.

Introduction. — In order to understand the relationship between English and German words, it is necessary to master the phonetic law which regulates the mutation of consonants in the two languages. This law is called Grimm's Law after the great German Scholar, Jacob Grimm, who discovered it.

"When a word, as, for instance, three, is found in similar forms in different languages, it is natural to account for the differences by saying that the several forms suited the several nations, "Drei," we might say, was easier of pronunciation for the Germans, tree for the Latins, three for the English. This theory has been justified by the collection of a large number of instances of changes differing similarly in the different languages.

In the example just now mentioned, t, d, and th, which are all consonants pronounced by the action of the tongue on the teeth, are interchanged; and this might suggest that the national preference, when rejecting a consonant, replaces it by some consonant uttered by the same organs as the first. This suggestion is warranted by fact. It has been shown by Grimm that the same words, when found in (1) Sanscrit, Greek, or Latin, (2) Low German (which may be represented by English), (3) High German, exhibit three systematically varying forms, in which three different consonants of the same organ are regularly found.

Classification of Consonants.

I. Consonants can be arranged according to the organs by which they are pronounced: as,

(1) Labials; (2) dentals or palatals; (3) gutturals.

- II. They can also be arranged according to the nature of the exit of the sound. The air may be entirely stopped as in (1) checks; or, some may be allowed to escape, as in (2) breathings; or the air may pass through the nose, as in (3) nasals. To these three classes are added (4) the aspirates, and (5) r and l, which are called trills.
- III. Again, of consonants uttered by the same organ, as—p and b; t and d, one is harder than the other; and this introduces another distinction:—

(1) hard, (2) soft.

The following Table will be sufficient to illustrate Grimm's law:—

•				Hard.	Aspirate.	Soft.
DENTALS . LABIALS . GUTTURALS				t p k,c (hard)	th ph ch	d b g

Grimm's Law is that-

Hard Consonants in (1) Sanscrit, Greek, or Latin, become the corresponding—

Aspirates in (2) Gothic, Low German (English), and the corresponding—

Soft Consonants in (3) High (Literary) German; and that Aspirates and Softs in (1) are modified in a corresponding manner. The law may be exhibited thus:—

(1) Sanscrit, Greek, Latin . (2) Gothic Low Grm. (Engl.). (3) High (Literary) Germ	Hard Aspirate Soft	Aspirate Soft Hard	Soft Hard Aspirate
DENTALS Sans., Gr., or Lat. English High German	Tres Three Drei	Thugater Daughter Tochter	Duo Two Zwei
LABIALS Sans., Gr., or Lat. English High German	Hepta Seven Sieben	Frater Brother (Pruoder¹)	Labi Slip Schleifen
Gut- TURALS. ² Sans., Gr., or Lat. English High German	Cor Heart Herz	Hortus Garden (Karten 1)	$\begin{array}{c} {\rm Amel}g{\rm ein} \\ {\rm Mil}k \\ {\rm Mil}ch \end{array}$

1 Old forms.

 $^{^2}$ (a) The scarcity of aspirated consonants causes many exceptions. Other causes of irregularity are (b) the degree to which the High Germans have assimilated their language to that of the Low Germans; (c) the combination of consonants, as st, sp, &c., where the s protects the t and p from the change."—Abbott and Seelesy's English Lessons.
